That's the question. We say $15

• $7.50 •
Buys a First-Class Wool Suit.

Another $7.50 Same Kind of an Overcoat.

It's remarkable how it's done—that's the kind of clothes we sell. Hundreds of our neighbors and friends have been here before you, and hundreds are coming every day. Perhaps you are willing to pay more. Then we'll sell you one of those Black Cheviot Suits and our Kersey Overcoat in brown, blue and black. $20 for the two. Another says: "I always pay $20 for suit and $20 for overcoat. This year you will be as well pleased with our $15 suit and overcoat."

We've just received a special lot of suits made from the best of imported cloth. Always $30, sometimes $35. We are going to sell a lot of them. That's why the price is $22.50. Ask to see them whether you wish to buy or not. We've got 'em in Regent Frocks and Regent Sacks.

THE FOREIGN FINANCES

Saved From a Mighty Crash
By Bankers.

THE SITUATION IS SOME EASIER.

French Warships Leave for the Bosphorus.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Raphael this morning says the great financial houses have decided to place at the disposal of the market 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 francs in order to facilitate a settlement. The speech of the marquis of Salisbury delivered in London Saturday had good effect here. Baron de Rothchild will preside today at the conference of financiers, the object being to take concerted action by a large subscription of capital to meet the necessities of the situation.

GREECE SHAKEN.

ATHENS, Nov. 11.—A severe earthquake has been experienced at Kattuna. The inhabitants are panic stricken.

FRENCH WARSHIPS.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Figaro announces that three French warships left Cannes for Turkish waters prepared to cope with any emergency.

BRITISH STORM.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A severe storm is raging today all over Scotland, the northern part of England and Ireland.

POWDER EXPLOSION.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Nov. 11.—The Marquette Powder Co.'s mills four miles from this city, exploded this morning. Two men were blown to atoms.

TEN THOUSAND ARMENIANS.

Killed in the Late Massacres by the Turks.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 11.—It is stated that Bahri Pasha, who was dismissed from the governorship owing to the ill treatment of Armenians, on the representations of the British ambassador, Sir Philip Currie, and who Saturday was decorated by the sultan with the grand Cordon of the Osmanli order, "as a reward for good services," is to be appointed to the command of the Turkish troops going to Zeboun.

The number of victims of the Balbut massacres reported to be 1,500 is estimated. The total number of Armenians, including men, women and children, killed during all of the most recent massacres exceed 10,000, and it is being constantly added to. During the past week or ten days 300 Armenians have been exiled, without trial, from Turkey, and the police still making arrests.

"THE SIN OF EDEN."

The serious thinking portion of our readers will not endorse the sensational utterances of Rev. Grannis, reported elsewhere in this paper.

His definition of the marriage relation as legalized licentiousness, had it been qualified never so much, was ROT.

How can the gentleman express such sentiments to a congregation containing young men, and still expect them to reverence their parents or come before a minister to take the sacred marriage vow? We now only call attention to the statements made. We shall discuss them in our next.

The Cuban Rebellion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—C. V. Velle, a Cuban who has been in Spain on a mission in the interest of the insurgent cause, arrived in New York today on the steamer Vandaam. He expects to lead an expedition to Cuba in the near future. His father, he said, is in Paris, where he is doing good work in the cause of Cuban independence. Mr. Velle gave it as his opinion that it is too late for the Spanish government to offer concessions to the struggling Cubans, for the insurgents are in good condition, and expect the consummation of their hopes in a Cuban republic.

THE FOOTBALL GAMES.

Corvallis and Forest Grove Reviewed—The Salem Game Next Saturday

TACKLE LOW.

The game between Corvallis and Forest Grove on Saturday last was the first inter-collegiate series and will probably prove the closest and most exciting. It ended with the ball in the middle of the field neither side having scored a point. This was probably due to the strong defensive work of both teams, and the lack of headwork on the part of both captains. This absence of headwork was particularly noticeable in the case of the Corvallis captain who might have scored several times if he had not made such grievous mistakes. Neither side having won the game, the coin was tossed to see which of the teams should play Willamette next Saturday. Corvallis won the toss and accordingly at 3 o'clock next Saturday we will line up against them at the fair grounds and do our best to win our first league game. It is to be hoped that the good people of Salem will patronize this game liberally and show the rest of Oregon that Salem is abreast of the prevailing fashion as far as football is concerned. The game was somewhat of a disappointment to Murphy and Olinger who witnessed the game. They thought that Corvallis would show a much weaker team, but three weeks of coaching under Downing has placed them in excellent trim. They are big and strong but slow. Willamette, although most of her players are new men, can double discount them in team work and agility. If we win the game next Saturday it will be because of superiority in these two points, and Salem people may well feel proud of their boys for having vanquished an older, more experienced and stronger team. If on the contrary, as is just as probable we should lose the game, the boys must not be discouraged and Salem people must not sneer and say, "I told you so," for Willamette does not expect to sweep all before her in this, her first year of football.

Many improvements have been made in the playing of the team this year and also in the team itself. It has been greatly strengthened by the addition of Paige who has at last come out to try for the team. When Paige overcomes some very serious faults he will be a star player. It is very evident that he has been used to running whenever he pleased with the ball, his speed and strength being too much for opposing tacklers to overcome. Still this is all very well in its place but it has no place, at least in the present stage of the game. He must and probably will learn to stick to his interference and turn in. The fact that he and several other Y. M. C. A. men have been playing with the team has brought them in closer touch with the town boys and has induced quite a number to join the association. Today Bill Haddock will don his suit and play. I have not seen him play but the boys say he is big, strong, fast and does not get hurt. These are prime requisites and hence he ought to make a star player. These qualities, too have induced me to put him in at tackle even at the sacrifice of the center position as I am satisfied he will be of more use there than at any place on the team. A tackle must be a man who can break through the line with monotonous regularity, breaking interference and tackling the halven.

The most marked improvement in defensive work has been noticeable in Gules. He has at last come to the realization of the fact that he must tackle low and hard, in consequence of which, he has been dowsing his man with great regularity. He has yet to learn how to crash through interference as Olinger does, however, and unless he pays particular attention to this, during the next few days, I am afraid that he will be found wanting on Saturday. If the ground is dry his offensive work will be brilliant. People had better go out to the fair grounds to see this game and have their eyes opened as I feel certain that long runs will be made by Gules, Murphy, Savage and Paige. This must be done in order to offset the tremendous weight which Corvallis will bring to bear.

Truett and Macy have shown marked improvement but do not play with enough snap. This seems to be a failing of Williams also; if he would rouse his ponderous frame from its Rip Van Winkle slumber and infuse some fire and ginger into it, he would make a "cracking" player as he seems perfectly ready and willing to learn. Tackle low Williams and the rest!

"THE SIN OF EDEN."

Sensational Sermon of a Salem
Minister

IN HIS TALK TO YOUNG MEN.

Rev. Grannis Discusses the Fall of Man in the Garden.

The words quoted above were displayed in large letters on the Y. M. C. A. bulletin boards the past week and Sunday, announcing the text of Rev. G. W. Grannis' discourse to men only at the hall at 4 p. m.

There was a right smart sprinkling of old men, a good many middle-aged sinners, some reporters, and the rest were quite young men. Quite an interest was felt in what the discourse would be like, and the program proved no disappointment.

Prof. E. H. Anderson acted as chorister, accompanied by an orchestra of two violins, piano, bass viol, flute and clarinet. Rev. Kershaw, of Leslie M. E. church, offered prayer. H. S. Gile sang a solo in his usual pleasing manner. After a brief address by Secretary Paige, Rev. Grannis was introduced. He read the passage relating to the serpent and the woman in the garden, and the conversation relating to the forbidden fruit.

"THE SIN OF EDEN."

This old story had become familiar to all. He had queried from infancy what forbidden fruit was. In Pennsylvania, when he was a boy, tomatoes were called love apples and were not eaten, as they were thought to be the forbidden fruit. What was the sin of Eden? The wise general would study the battles of the past. This battle in the Garden of Eden was the greatest of all conflicts in history. It was Satan on one side and Eve on the other. This sin was universal. The evidences of the fall were on every hand. Eve was willing to parley, and that was her first mistake. To parley with evil was to lose half the battle with the devil.

Lust was the sin of Eden. Sensuality was the cause of the fall. This third chapter of Genesis was more than imagery. When the adversary had gained the mastery over the mother of the race, shame followed. We did not know what shame was until sin had mastered virtue. Until a young man had surrendered to vice he never lost the confidence of mother.

He argued that the suffering of child bearing was another evidence of the sin there committed. Take lust out of the world and it would be almost a paradise. Lust and carnal appetite were at the bottom of 99-100 of the ills of life, and this life would be heaven without it. Inordinate lust was the bane of domestic life and undermined the family institution.

He went so far as to say that 999-1000 of the race were the products of lust. He denounced the existing condition of matrimony as little better than legalized licentiousness. The marriage relation was mainly for the gratification of the sexual passions.

This curse was inherited and dwarfed the intended creation of man in the image of God. Without this curse of Eden the marriage relation would be pure and would be gratified only to reproduce the species. Nothing but the devil could have destroyed the happy family in paradise, and only a devil could trespass on the sacred right of the family relation. He recited revolting incidents of lust that had come to his notice and that were described in Fowler's work on the sexual relations. His denunciation of the adulterer was as strong as words could make it. His motto in conclusion was: "Young men keep your record clean."

There was power in the seed of the woman to bruise the serpent under her heel.

His address was closely listened to but did not meet with general approbation. Not a few criticisms coming out.

SATURDAY'S JOURNAL contained the first disclosures of the treatment of the Indian children at the Chemawa Indian training school. The statements there published have not been explained or denied.

In an interview with another employe THE JOURNAL reporter was told a story similar to those appearing in the Saturday issue.

"No one knows," she said, "the extent of that man's (Bakestraw's) meanness to those children and the employes. Not being employed in the kitchen I do not know just what they had to eat, but I do know they complained bitterly of not having enough, and I have heard groups of them talking it over, and wondering why they were not given more. I have heard them complain of being hungry, many times, and a spirit of discontent and dissatisfaction was abroad among all the children. Their bread I knew was no good, for I have seen it; it was black and heavy. It

The Sunday Oregonian November 9th places JO. SIMON in the position of Honor as the Mouthpiece of Oregon Republicanism.

SIMON'S picture and interview on national politics are made altogether too conspicuous to be in good taste, considering that he was overthrown in the last legislature, and routed foot, horse and dragons. It is an insult to Republicanism.

THE CAPITAL JOURNAL is only a ONE CENT DAILY ($3 a year by mail,) and does not employ a cartoonist, but it believes it is in duty bound to draw a true picture of BOSS SIMON as the People know him.

It is said the People of Maryland have just sealed the Doom of Bossism by the complete overthrow of Boss Gorman, and that staunch Democratic state has gone Republican all around.

It shows what the American People can do when they get mad.
